Tonic, Dominant, and Subdominant Functions in Minor Tonality

1. Establish tonality in D minor and sing the following 3-note and 2-note patterns with a neutral syllable (“bum”). When students can perform the patterns as a group, ask them to perform solo using the procedures for Teaching Mode/Evaluation Mode.

The first system of the musical score consists of two staves. The top staff is in treble clef with a key signature of one flat (B-flat) and a tempo marking of (♩=100). It contains a melody with eighth and quarter notes, including a key signature change to two sharps (F# and C#) in the middle. The bottom staff is also in treble clef with a key signature of one flat, providing a harmonic accompaniment with eighth and quarter notes.

2. Establish tonality in D minor and sing the following 3-note and 2-note patterns using tonal syllables. When students can perform the patterns as a group, ask them to perform solo using the procedures for Teaching Mode/Evaluation Mode.

Macrobeats, Microbeats, and Rests in Triple Meter

- Engage the students in rhythm movement, asking them to place the macrobeats in the feet and the microbeats in the hands. Chant the following triple patterns on a neutral syllable (“bah”). When students can perform the patterns as a group, ask them to perform solo using the procedures for Teaching Mode/Evaluation Mode.

Four rows of musical notation in 2/8 time, each showing a transformation from a pattern with macrobeats to a pattern with microbeats. The first row shows a pattern of eighth notes and rests transforming into a pattern of quarter notes and rests. The second row shows a pattern of eighth notes and rests transforming into a pattern of quarter notes and rests. The third row shows a pattern of eighth notes and rests transforming into a pattern of quarter notes and rests. The fourth row shows a pattern of eighth notes and rests transforming into a pattern of quarter notes and rests.

Macrobeats, Microbeats, Divisions, Elongations, Rests, and Upbeats in Duple Meter

1. Engage the students in rhythm movement, asking them to place the macrobeats in the feet and the microbeats in the hands. Chant the following duple patterns on a neutral syllable ("bah"). When students can perform the patterns as a group, ask them to perform solo using the procedures for Teaching Mode/Evaluation Mode.

(♩=100)

Four rows of musical notation in 2/4 time, each showing a transformation from a complex pattern to a simplified one. The notation includes eighth notes, quarter notes, and eighth rests. The simplified versions use only quarter notes to represent the macrobeats.

2. Chant the following duple patterns with rhythm syllables. When students can perform the patterns as a group, ask them to perform solo using the procedures for Teaching Mode/Evaluation Mode.

(♩=100)

Four rows of musical notation in 2/4 time, each showing a transformation from a complex pattern to a simplified one. The notation includes eighth notes, quarter notes, and eighth rests. The simplified versions use only quarter notes to represent the macrobeats. Below each note is a rhythm syllable: "De" for quarter notes, "Du" for eighth notes, and "Ta" for eighth rests.
